

Come practise the present perfect continuous!

i We use the present perfect continuous when we want to say that something started in the past and is still continuing now.

The present perfect continuous is formed with "has/have been" + "the ing-form of the verb" (present participle).
For example: I have been watching the TV series for a month now.

?

She _____ been looking forward to the show.

- ☐ have
- ☐ has
- ☐ was

?

I have not been _____ football since my injury.

- ☐ played
- ☐ play
- ☐ playing

?

Aunt Lisbeth _____ been helping us since yesterday.

- ☐ has
- ☐ have
- ☐ are

?

It has not _____ raining all month.

- ☐ are
- ☐ been
- ☐ be

?

Mr Thomson has been _____ for an hour.

- ☐ talked
- ☐ talk
- ☐ talking

?

For how long have you been _____ in the canteen?

- ☐ eating
- ☐ ate
- ☐ eat

?

Jaden _____ been watching TV for two hours.

- ☐ has
- ☐ have
- ☐ was

?

How long have you _____ learning French?

- ☐ are
- ☐ be
- ☐ been

?

I have been _____ handstands for three weeks now.

- ☐ practising
- ☐ practise
- ☐ practised

?

I have been _____ my trip to Italy since March.

- ☐ organised
- ☐ organise
- ☐ organising

?

He _____ been reading the Narnia trilogy for the past weeks.

- ☐ have
- ☐ has
- ☐ was

?

_____ you been listening? I don't think you got it.

- ☐ Was
- ☐ Has
- ☐ Have

?

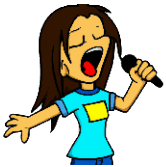

I am tired. I have been _____ a lot.

- ☐ revising
- ☐ revised
- ☐ revise

?

She has been _____ this song for months now! I can't stand it anymore!

- ☐ singing
- ☐ sang
- ☐ sing